course, the American agent was disappointed to him. He felt that his dignity was slighted by the new-comers, who, little by little were encroaching upon his rights by appropriating his valuable pearl fisheries, and seizing the revenues which belonged to him.

The Sultan is a short, thick-set man, with small eyes, a slight, black mustache, a yellow complexion, and his hair cropped as close as scissors would clip. He is dressed in a long, brilliant blue robe, with a wide, gold-trimmed collar, and a sword is thrust into a scabbard on his left hip. He is surrounded by a crowd of attendants, and he is seated on a high, ornate throne.

On taking leave of my royal host he presented me with his handsome dress-sword and a small, ornate box containing a pair of gloves. He then turned to the subject of his grievances, and at every gesture the Sultan would add down to his waist, exposing his dusky skin, so that perhaps I really saw more of his Highness than the privilege of most Europeans.

The Sultan's audience chamber occupies half the upper floor, and its description may be briefly summed up in bare words, non-descript bangles, four or five pieces of dilapidated furniture, dirt, and lumber.

But the Maylin Palace, on the opposite coast of the island, is quite a different place. Built bungalow fashion, and covered with an iron roof, it has several spacious apartments, which would be all sufficient for the home of a prosperous European planter.

Here, far away from the inquisitive gaze of the Christian infidel, the Sultan, in company with his seven wives, can alternately ponder on the glories of the past in the sanguinary struggles against the Spaniards, and lament his fast-diminishing power under the levelling process of American conquest.

In a material sense he is wanting nothing; he receives an annual income from the British North Borneo Company in lieu of his sovereign rights in Brunei; he has a string of lovely pearls; and in the natives' estimation he is wealthy.

But he is the Majestri, the stainless the spotless who can do no wrong—the lord of life and property, on whose mere depends all that the world can give within his domain, including the happiness and existence of his Sultanate.

THE BOYCOTT.

No Signs of Abatement.

(From a Correspondent.)

Canton, November 22.

The secretary of the San Francisco Branch of the Boycott Association wrote to the Canton Branch informing that remittances sent to the Shanghai, Canton, and Hongkong Branches, up to date amounted to $30,000, and that further remittances are forthcoming. It has been decided to use the surplus funds to publish in English and Chinese pamphlets containing facts of ill-treatment meted out to the Chinese in America. These pamphlets will be distributed to both Chinese and foreigners. It has been further decided to petition the Wainman and the Chinese Minister at Washington to add a clause in the new treaty, allowing Chinese in America to employ solicitors in any law suits and to send doctors on board ships carrying Chinese emigrants for the purpose of seeing in cooperation with American doctors in diagnosing diseases.

CONCERT AT 8.15.

Fire in Des Vaux Road.

A fire broke out at midnight last night at No. 463 Des Vaux Road West, premises occupied by the Wing Foon Tai firm dealers in peanuts and conies. The brigade received the alarm but by the time they arrived on the scene the fire had obtained a good hold and it was not until about two and a half hours were spent in fighting the flames that they were got under control. The house was gutted and the stock, which it is believed was not very considerable, destroyed, the damage being estimated by the police at about $1000. The total insurance on the premises is said to have been $17,000. It is not known at present how the fire originated.

New Hospital for Canton.

The Kwong Yick Hu held a meeting on November 21 at Canton, says a correspondent, at which it was unanimously decided to buy the 7.2 acres of ground at Wongsba at a price of Taels 6000, for the purpose of erecting thereon a Hospital. The locality has long been considered a most suitable one for the purpose. It is both accessible by land and by sea. The bargain money of $1000 was paid on the 8th inst. but the purchase will not be completed until January next. It has been agreed between the members of the Committee that in the event of the subscriptions from the public not being sufficient to warrant an early construction of the building, the members themselves will advance the money.

Ministering Children's League.

A Garden Fete in aid of various local charities, organized by the Ministering Children's League, will be held on Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 7 o'clock. His Excellency the Governor has taken a great interest in the charitable work of this organization, and having courteously placed the grounds at Government House at their disposal, the Fete will be held there. The ballroom at Government House will be used as a Concert Hall and a concert will take place at 5.30 p.m.; admission: Adults $1; Children 25 cents. At the conclusion of the concert a Theatrical entertainment will be held, when similar charges for admission will be made. The band of the Royal West Kent Regiment has, by the permission of Lieut.-Col. A. G. Fytton and officers, been secured for the afternoon. From the arrangements made the Fete promises to be a success and local charities should benefit thereby. It will be obtainable from 3.50 onwards.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

In Old Virginia.

THE Hutchinson Drug Company, which is located at Ferry, Oklahoma, U.S.A., in speaking of the sale of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "We take pleasure in recommending it to our customers because we believe it is honestly made and a meritorious preparation. We sold it in Old Virginia and several other States covering a period of over twenty years, and have always found it to be a perfect 'cure-all' for all kinds of coughs, colds, and croup. For sale by All Dispensaries, WATSON & CO., Ltd., General Agents."

has arrived to agitate for their total abolition as a means of livelihood. They have now taken unto themselves a look too sinister altogether, and we hereby invite 'Annoyed Pedestrian,' 'Justitia,' 'Pater Familias,' 'Pro Bono Publico,' and the hosts of other citizens of merit who write the papers, to insist upon a campaign being undertaken against the coolie and his bamboo. The editor must be protected, at least until the price for his life is raised, even if it is at the cost of all the bamboos and coolies in Hongkong. And right here we would like to remark that if ever we have said anything about the gentleman who is putting up the $2200 we are sorry we did not say more. He is a worse scoundrel than he has been taken for, whoever wrote of him.

Another sign of the awakening of China has been made. On the 25th of the present month 48 Chinese gentlemen will, it is reported, leave Canton by the s.s. "Kwong Tung" for Hongkong, thence by the French Mail to Europe, for the purpose of making a through investigation of the educational methods of the West. The importance of this step cannot be doubted by any one who has at all studied the educational system of China. The lover of nature can see 'books in the running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything,' but before one arrives at that stage of life a good deal of hard, laborious study has to be encountered and accomplished. And this study must be gone through systematically. That hard taskmaster, Experience, has taught us that unless we construct our educational fabric on the soundest of foundations it will before very long tumble down about our ears. There are men in China who are beginning to realize the high standard of learning attained in European countries, and they see the advantages which are reaped therefrom. To throw off the yoke of 'old custom' and break through the traditions of hundreds and hundreds of years is no mean task, and its fulfilment depends entirely upon the earnestness with which those selected to study Western methods carry out their important duties. This latest move in Southern China is fraught with good for China and is a step forward in the advancement of the Celestial Empire.

Fatal Accident at Amoy.

The dead body of a Portuguese was recently found near the beach at the Eastern end of Kulangsu. It would appear as if the deceased had fallen from a cliff and broken one ankle, injuring the other as well, so preventing him from crawling away. It is believed that he must have lain on the beach for three or four days and finally died from exhaustion. An investigation is to be held.

Earthquake at Amoy.

Our Amoy correspondent, writing under date November 20, states that a sharp shock of earthquake was distinctly felt in the settlement a few days prior to writing. It is several years since Amoy felt such a tremor. The windows of houses rattled, and one gentleman declared he saw the walls of the room he was in gently sway from side to side. Our correspondent adds: "It is not exactly described what it felt like, but there is no doubt he was greatly impressed by the tremor."

Sore Muscles.

PROMINENT athletes throughout the country find that the best treatment for sore muscles after severe exercise or hard work of any kind, is not both at bed time, which opens the pores. This should immediately be followed with an application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm vigorously rubbed into the skin. This liniment removes all stiffness and soreness and has become a favorite rub down, as it acts promptly and keeps the muscles in excellent condition. monotony for those who seek the treasure; one planet in a starless night, one blossom on a briar, one friend not quite a hypocrite, one woman not a liar. We invite pessimists, if there are any in Hongkong, to study this little verse, with special attention to the reference to treasure seeking.

One might almost suspect that there is a touch of satire in the proclamation issued by the Emperor of Corea, 'expressing satisfaction' at the prospect of his new relationship with the Japanese government. He will not be familiar with 'Universal History' and possibly has never heard of Madagascar; on the other hand, of Egypt, like his own an ancient kingdom, he will have read. Perhaps the prospect of commercial development, of an increased revenue, and a substantial pension, attracts him, and he intends to make the best of things and let his successors look after themselves. However this may be, and whatever shades of his ancestors may confront him in the visions of the night, it seems strange in the light of modern history, to know that there is an Emperor who can express 'satisfaction' that his powers have departed from him, and that henceforth he will without doubt be only a pawn on the chess board, to be moved by the Japanese player according to the exigencies of the game. On the other hand the political life of Corea, from the date of the last war between Japan and China, has been like a stormy sea, and little calm has been the portion of either the Emperor or his advisors. If might spells right, and 'to have' is 'to hold' then the claim of Japan is unquestionable, and there can be little doubt but that the introduction of Japanese methods, and ideas, will gradually transform the Hermit kingdom into more or less a modern civilized state. At any rate, there can be little doubt that most of the foreign ministers are not sorry to see matters settled in this way, and to know that the claim of Japan has been definitely recognized. Will it follow that all foreigners in Corea will now come under Japanese law? If so this will be a new factor in the problem. Japan, powerful here on the mainland, and the Linching peninsula under her direct control, as well as the railways throughout the east of Manchuria, will be able to command more than a nodding acquaintance with China. She may indeed without difficulty occasionally pay her 'friendly' visit.

The disquieting intelligence with which a Canton correspondent has been regaling us of late would perhaps be highly interesting if it did not touch so near home. It is quite an easy thing for one gracious fellow to airily say: 'Oh, an editor in Hongkong is to be assassinated.' And it is just as simple and equally undisturbing to the other kind man to remark: 'Pity they were not all assassinated.' But what about the poor editor who might be sent to the happy hunting ground at any odd moment? To him an unexpected visit to that bourne whence no traveller returns is not encouraging, though it might be refreshing and afford certain mental exercise to contemplate upon the method that might be adopted in giving him the through passage. Perhaps he will be pricked with a poniard, or brained with a bludgeon. Either would be equally distressing, though somewhat unpicturesque. But notwithstanding the physical pain that could be produced with poniard or bludgeon it surely can not be half so great as that done to the pride of the editor by the cold-blooded announcement, that his life is only worth a paltry $2200 (Mexican). That is the unkindest portion of the sentence of death. There would be something to be proud of if a blood-sum of $22,000,000 was offered, and even for $22,000 an editor might feel willing to allow himself to be sacrificed. But $2200! That is too low down, and just out of spite every editor should do his best to defeat the machinations of the would-be assassin. The question is how far will the law protect the wanted man in such an effort? Suppose every editor in Hongkong decides to arm himself with a feroocious bludgeon or a sword—we believe the fourth estate is entitled to carry a sword, anyway—and smiles to the earth any coolie he sees about him with a bamboo pole at a suspicious angle, would the Government refrain from prosecuting him? If not, how is he to know that any particular bamboo has not been specially grown to blot him out of existence? Hitherto bamboo has attracted no particular attention—no rapturous pleasure concealed in life's

THE POOR PESSIMIST.

The most pathetic figure in the world is the pessimist. As a general rule he is not a man who has been to any extent a target for the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune, on the other hand he has generally achieved a sufficient share of the good things that are going and his dismal dissatisfaction with all mundane and most celestial things is a carefully cultivated pose. He resolutely turns his back on the sunshine and will not be comforted. Tell him that after all there is a great amount of happiness drifting around and that if he has the will to capture it the ability will manifest itself almost without his being conscious of it, and he will probably smile sardonically and quote: 'This has been and this shall still be, here as there in, sun or star, things which were to be and will be things which were to be and are.' He is first cousin to the fatalist and his influence is not healthy. Singularly enough most young men admire this Byronic attitude and imitate it to the extent of their powers. But what good does pessimism do to the man who adopts it as a cult? If we really try we can see the good in things with as much ease as we can see the evil and surely the former is the more pleasant subject for contemplation. There are those who subscribe to the theory that our tendencies are born with us and that one man is by disposition sanguine while the other is always on the tenterhooks of apprehension lest his ventures should fall by reason of a prenatal nervousness. This is only another example of the unwholesome reasoning by which men attempt to justify what they know in their hearts is wholly unjustifiable. We will not be suspected of irreverence when we say that stripped of all the cloak of words, with which we are wont to hide our meaning, what these peoples say in effect is: 'Don't blame me, blame the Creator.' What a dignified position to adopt. Suppose we all went on that principle. The earth would become a hellum; all the restraints which the wisdom that has been bred from experience has taught us would be of no avail, and society would be overwhelmed. Yet, that is the logical conclusion of the pessimist's reasoning, although he would probably be horror-stricken were he told so. Every medical man who has made a study of mental diseases declares that these tendencies grow by what they feed on and that it is simply a matter of exercising the will power before it is too late to free oneself from their deadening influence. If those who nurture the pessimistic pose could see at the end of the vista a lunatic asylum they would probably devote more thought to what they are doing. Too much poetry in a leading article is apt to become oppressive and we cannot refrain from quoting the settled opinion of a man of the world who like the brilliant but unhappy Captain Morris (who was perhaps the greatest writer of epigrammatic songs the world has ever known) had in life 'rung all changes too—run every pleasure down.' The quotation runs: 'I think the world though dark it be, has eyes, one rapturous pleasure concealed in life's

DAIRY FARM COMPANY.

Ninth Annual Meeting.

The ninth annual meeting of shareholders in the Dairy Farm Company was held at the Company's offices, Wyndham Street, at 12.30, Dr. J. W. Noble (Chairman of Directors) presiding. Shareholders also present were Messrs E. Osborne, J. Walker (manager), S. A. Seth (Secretary), J. E. Bingham, E. W. Rutter, A. Forbes, J. H. Underwood, and A. Stevenson.

The Secretary, having read the notice convening the meeting, the Chairman said: "Gentlemen, following the usual custom I will, with your permission, take as read the report and accounts as presented, they having been in your hands for some days. It is with much pleasure that we are able to meet you again after another good year. During the period under review we have added largely, and yet economically, to our herd of cattle. We have made our purchases in America, Australia and Scotland, our endeavour being to raise the standard of our herd by introducing only well bred, good milk-producing animals. The actual value of the herd has now become so large that we recommend you to transfer from the year's profits to a Cattle Reserve Fund, the sum of £5,000. This fund is to be kept in a fund from which it can be drawn as needed to purchase stock should that, for any reason, become necessary. You will, I know, be disappointed to hear that the frozen food business has not been as profitable as was anticipated. The public I am sorry to say have not given us the support which we hoped and expected to receive, and which one would suppose they would have given if they had considered their own interests, especially as we appeared in the field at a time when it seemed as though the people of Hongkong were to be completely at the mercy of the most unscrupulous and prices were continually rising without any good or adequate reason. Our appearance immediately checked this rise in price and later was the cause of lower prices being demanded by the Chinese. You perhaps do not realize that there is really not the difference between our rates and those ruling for Chinese meat as would at first sight appear. You can at least depend on getting full weight, besides which, it is now well recognized by those who are able to judge, that one pound of our meat is equal, if not superior, in nourishment to one and a quarter pounds of the local article, this being the proportion at which the Military Authorities, no less than the Garrison garrisons. Those of you who are particular about your meat supply should come here yourselves and make your own selection, and this we hope you will do. If your men are not fully and well satisfied, complain about it in writing, and we will endeavour to make such changes as will enable you to get exactly what you require, but please bear in mind that if you and your friends do not in the future support us more heartily, Hongkong will lose what we consider to be a very important branch of the Company's business, i.e. frozen food. Before proposing the adoption of the Report and Accounts, if there are any questions you would like to ask I will be pleased to answer them."

Mr. Underwood—I should like to know how many cattle you have to represent this £5,000, mentioned in the report as against the number owned last year.

The Chairman—The cattle account changes from day to day and from week to week. We are always losing cattle and always replacing them. What we tell you to-day will not be true of to-morrow. The total herd in August 1904 was 387 head this year it was 351, due to date.

Mr. Underwood—I should like to know how many farm lots you have.

The Chairman—We have many lots on lease but have bought no land since last year.

Mr. Underwood—I should like to know how many.

The Chairman—At present the lots we own number four, some of which are divided up.

Mr. Underwood—In last year's report you mentioned the different lots that you owned. That is not done this year.

The Chairman—We have purchased no land this year so the position is the same.

Mr. Underwood—How many do you lease please?

The Chairman—About half a dozen.

Mr. Underwood—I should like to know to explain to me what the stocks in hand include.

The Chairman—As mentioned in the President's report.

Mr. Underwood—Yes.

The Chairman—That includes all stocks owned by the company for sale. Anything that could go to the shop.

Mr. Underwood—Does it include the eggs, chickens and pigs?

The Chairman—Everything.

Mr. Underwood—Then with regard to the launch account. You seem to have written off an enormous amount of money. Surely the launch has not done so much damage to such an extent. It seems to me that it is anything to give shareholders a smaller dividend.

The Chairman—There you are wrong.

Mr. Underwood—You pay a smaller dividend than in 1903, the last time one was paid, when it was £12.50. You have had an even better dividend than that.

The Chairman—You must remember that we have capitalized. That year it only required £12.50 this year we gave £20,000 and we have not asked you for a penny. If you were an old shareholder in the company I think you would congratulate me on the fact that the dividend that we give is so large.

Mr. Underwood—When the company is doing well I think that the dividends should be decent.

The Chairman—It is for you to propose that we pay a larger dividend if you are not satisfied. That is what we are here for. The directors have given the matter very careful consideration and they are safeguarding their own. If you are not satisfied with our management then show us out.

Mr. Underwood—I came here to ask a few questions. I do not want that.

Messrs. Midland and Hinds were re-elected directors on the motion of Mr. Underwood seconded by Mr. Rutter. (On the motion of Mr. Forbes, seconded by Mr. Stephenson, Mr. W. H. Potts was re-elected auditor.)

Mr. Forbes moved a vote of thanks to the Chairman, directors and staff for their capable services during the year. Carried. The Chairman: Thank you gentlemen. We have spent a great deal of our time in looking after the Company's affairs for which we do not get a great deal of remuneration, but we do not ask it. We hope to do as much for the company in the future as we have done in the past.

AN EDITOR TO BE ASSASSINATED.

A Would-be Murderer in Hongkong.

(From a Correspondent.)

CANTON, Nov. 22. Last week I wrote about a certain gentry of Canton who was so much commented on in a Hongkong newspaper editor in connection with the boycott, that he (the gentry) was reported to have paid for an assassin to proceed to Hongkong to end the life of the Editor.

I am further informed that the gentry has paid $200 to the man who has already come down to Hongkong to do the job, and that a further sum of $200 has been promised when the work is done.

In order to make no mistake, it is reported that the man has a copy of the Editor's photograph by him.

THE CONTROL OF OPIUM.

Action at Canton.

(From a Correspondent.)

CANTON, November 22.

The King Shun Tong, which holds the monopoly of controlling the retail of prepared opium, has finally consented to pay a sum of $100,000 to the Provincial Government annually. A levy of 4 centavens on every taol of prepared opium is imposed, and a limit is put to the number of opium dens. The more new opium-retailers are allowed than are in existence at present, the more opium smokers are detested of preparing opium for their own consumption they can do so by paying to the King Shun Tong one taol for every one taol of unprepared opium.

Should any retailers be found to be preparing opium without the permission of the monopolists, they render themselves liable to a fine including the forfeiture of the drug, 2 percent of which goes to the informant.

SUPREME COURT.

IN BANKRUPTCY JURISDICTION.

(Before His Lordship Sir Francis T. Figgitt, Chief Justice.)

Thursday, November 23.

PETITIONS FOR RECEIVING ORDERS.

Kwong Pa Cheong ex parte Chai, petition for a receiving order. Mr. Otto Kong Sing appeared to make the application in regard to the debtor's estate saying that the latter had substantial assets.

Mr. Wakeman (Official Receiver)—I don't see where the substantial assets come in, your Lordship.

The application was adjourned for a further affidavit to be filed.

Wong Lee Fung ex parte Leung Fat Nam.

Mr. Otto Kong Sing applied for a receiving order against the firm's property. The unsatisfied debt was $500 due on a promissory note. The debtor's act of bankruptcy consisted of having notified his inability to pay his debts. The debtor had estates sufficient to satisfy the claim.

Mr. Wakeman—They are book debts. I find that petitioning creditor's information on the point of assets of this kind is not very reliable.

The application was adjourned.

Wai Koo Sim ex parte Lo Shun Tsui.

Mr. Otto Kong Sing applied for a receiving order, and read the petition stating that the Wai Koo Sim formerly carried on business at Canton as a Marine Store dealer. He showed the petitioning creditor $8,000 on a promissory note.

The application was adjourned.

Kwong Tai Fung ex parte Cheong Shing Tong.

Mr. G. K. Holmes asked for the receiving order, which was wanted to give the petitioning creditor the benefit of assets of the bankrupt's estate. The petition set out that the debtor's goods had been sold for the benefit of four creditors and to the exclusion of all others.

The application was granted.

Tin Po Lai firm ex parte Leung Kuan Ka.

PARIS LETTER.

(From Our Correspondent.)

PARIS, October 19.

The Princess Pierre-Napoleon Bona parte died suddenly on Sunday at her Palace in the Avenue d'Antony, just close to the beautiful English church of St. George. She was sixty-two years old at her death. Her life story far exceeds in interest any romance. In the Royal Courts and High Society of Europe she was called Princess Cinderella.

Her maiden name was Justine Eleonore Ruffin, and she was the daughter of a working man, a journeyman cabinet-maker living in the Faubourg Saint-Antoine, the White-chapel of Paris. As she was returning home from work Pierre Napoleon met her, and she being remarkably handsome and very intelligent, he fell in love with her, and like an honest man, instead of doing what most Princes do in like circumstances, he proposed marriage. His cousin, Emperor Napoleon III, absolutely refused his consent to the marriage.

The Prince, however, by the aid of a Corsican priest, married her secretly in a side Chapel of the Church of St. Germain l'Auxerrois, in the heart of Paris.

As the Prince and his wife had no private means they were in a sad state, until the Emperor gave them a small allowance out of his private purse. They lived in a little Villa at Autouville, the nice suburb of Paris, and five children were born, of whom two remain, the Princess Jeanne and Prince Roland.

When the Republic was declared in 1870 Prince Pierre and his family had to flee to England, owing to his having brutally killed a young man, Victor Noir, a journalist, who had gone to interview him, and whom he shot down apparently under some mistake as to his visit.

In London the family lived in great poverty, and when the Prince fell ill the Princess took to her old employment of dressmaker, and by working eighteen hours a day for a wholesale firm she made about thirty shillings a week. Then the Prince died, and struggling bravely on, by the assistance of an English clergyman, the Rector of the parish where she lived, she opened a millinery shop in a fashionable part of London. She succeeded, and with regular French frugality she saved enough after some years to return to her beloved Paris. She gave her children the best education she could afford. The daughter, Princess Jeanne, met in the South of France the Marquis of Villeneuve, an extremely wealthy man, and married him. Her son, Prince Roland, was lucky enough to meet a rich young girl, who on her marriage with him, settled nearly £100,000 on his mother, Princess Pierre-Napoleon. With this money and her savings she lived in princely style, until her death, and acquired the respect and esteem of all who knew her. She sometimes attended the Services at the English Church, although nominally a Roman Catholic, and was extremely fond of English people. Princess Cinderella will be greatly missed.

There is a good deal of amusement in Paris Society with regard to Miss Alice Roosevelt, the daughter of the United States President. The Parisians cannot understand why Miss Alice should put on such airs. In France, although the President of the Republic, is chief servant of the state, is treated with special honour and respect, and with ceremonial detail, his children are regarded as any other functionary's family. The Americans who rather jest about the matter, jokingly style Miss Roosevelt, Princess Alice. It is said here she has declared she will not marry any other than a Prince, and as an English, or in fact any Prince of a Reigning Royal house, is out of the question, it is suggested a Sicilian or Corsican Prince is easily attainable. They are as thick as blackberries in an English country lane, most of the population being Princes and Marquises. Mais n'importe! A Prince is a Prince, and the wife is a Princess. So, perhaps, hearsay may be right, and she may have her heart's desire in being called Princess Alice.

General Gallieni, Governor-General of Madagascar, has addressed a formal letter to M. Clemental, Minister of Foreign Affairs, resigning his post, and asking that his successor may be appointed as soon as possible.

Those that are, as it were, behind the scenes know that only matters of great importance would have caused this resignation. The French Press hold various opinions as to this contempt. Some of the papers say that they have knowledge that the General is discontented with the Foreign Office in Paris. Others say it is owing to an alteration with certain members of the Congo Commission. M. Clemental, has not accepted the resignation. A special meeting of the French Cabinet has been called, so it is rumoured, to deal with the matter, which is one of great importance to the Colony. M. Angarier, deputy, and Governor of Lyons, has been announced as the General's successor in the event of the resignation being accepted.

Apropos of M. Clemental's marriage is announced to take place shortly with Mrs. Rigby Knowles, a popular member of the Anglo-American Colony in Paris. M. Clemental, is one of the rising men in France, and he will be probably put forward in January next as candidate for the Presidency of the French Republic in succession to M. Loubet.

M. Pierre Lafette, the Director of Je Sais Tout, the new popular Parisian Magazine, has offered Edmond Rostand 100,000 francs for the right to reproduce for a single occasion the new play, Chantecler.

The poet has refused the offer, lest it should interfere with the sale of the volume. It is said this is the highest sum ever offered or given for the insertion of an article or any literary matter in a single number of a Review, Newspaper, or Magazine. There are whispers that the offer and refusal is only a kind of advertisement of the new book, l'Americain.

The Prince and Princess of Wales are expected in Paris on route for Genoa, where they will embark for their tour in India. Everything English is a topic of interest to the French people now. They are in ecstasies over the warm reception

BY WHARF AND WAVE.

The Southampton dock, particulars of which were given yesterday, has been named 'Trafalgar Dock.'

Japanese Cheap Tramp Steamers.

According to a telegram dated Victoria, British Columbia, October 19, advices were received from Japan by the steamer 'Toga' that day that a combination had been formed of Japanese shipping firms to send tramp steamers to the United States and Europe with cargoes from Japan and Chinese ports, carrying freight at a low rate, about one third of the present rate. The sixty-six steamers which were captured while running coastward and consigned by the Prize Courts, were to be added to the fleet, and the augmented fleet will cut a big inroad into the business of the foreign tramps, mostly British, German and Norwegian. It costs 50 percent less to run a Japanese vessel compared with a British tramp.

Canton River Barriers.

The following notification has been issued:—

Notice is given that the channels through the Barriers in the approach to Canton have been sidened an deepened as follows:—

Iron Barrier.—The north channel through the Barrier has now a width of 670 feet with a least depth of 16 at low water of spring tides.

The north side of the channel is marked at night by a red light and the south by a green light.

Bridge Barrier.—The entire Barrier has been removed and all obstructions cleared to a depth of 10 feet at low water of spring tides.

Turbine Barrier.—The channel through the Barrier has now a width of 400 feet with a depth at low water of spring tides of 12 feet on its north side, gradually decreasing to 10 feet on its south side.

The north side of the channel is marked by two Pile-buoys, each showing at night a red light, and the south side by a black buoy, showing at night a green light.

Cambridge Reach Barrier.—The south channel through the Barrier has now a width of 440 feet, with a least depth of 16 feet at low water of spring tides.

The north side of the channel is marked by a Pile-buoy, showing at night a red light, and the south side by a Pile-buoy, showing at night a green light.

Football. Yesterday afternoon three association football matches took place at Happy Valley, resulting as follows:—Hongkong 'A' defeated 'Tamar' 'A' (5 to 0); 'Es' defeated 'Do' (4 to one); and 'Tamar' defeated 'Royce Garrison' (3 to 1).

ANTI-AMERICANISM.

The Lionchou Massacre.

(From Our Correspondent.)

Amoy, November 20.

The news of the Lionchou massacre has excited the utmost indignation and horror. The Boxer trouble indicated the barbarism which is in the Chinese, but the Lionchou affair seems the worst we have yet heard of. It is feared that the hatred of the Americans is profound and in some mysterious way has spread throughout the country. Amoy is supposed to be one of the quietest places in the south of China; the Boxer trouble hardly caused a ripple, but at the present time the people are full of resentment against the cruel treatment they allege their countrymen have received at the hands of Americans.

A day or two ago an English lady hired a sampan to cross the water, and when she got near the jetty on the other side the boats round about it made no movement to let her through. After some moments waiting one boatman called out: 'Is she English or American?' When informed that she was English they at once made a passage for her to land.

SIR HENRY IRVING AND COLONIALS.

Amongst the many special performances given by the great actor, the late Sir Henry Irving, probably there never have been a more mixed or more memorable audience than that which made their appearance before him at the time of the Diamond Jubilee of her late Majesty the Queen in 1897.

It will be remembered that some 900 Officers and men representing the various Colonies, were present and took part in the Diamond Jubilee; they were quartered at Chelsea Barracks, and while there Sir Henry invited them to an afternoon performance at the Lyceum. The invitation was eagerly accepted, and at the hour fixed for the performance, the theatre was packed with representatives from every outpost of the Empire—including Officers and men from Canada, the Australian Colonies, the Gold Coast, and Mauritius, from India, Ceylon, the Straits Settlements, Borneo, Hongkong and many other places. The scene in the theatre with the colours of the various uniforms was a picture of fascinating interest. The piece selected by Sir Henry for his programme was the story of Waterloo and 'The Bells,' and the spectacle that followed the close of the performance, was one long to be remembered—the whole audience rose to their feet, a roar of enthusiastic cheering swept through the building, while Sir Henry stood, a striking figure on the stage, bowing his acknowledgments. Silence being restored, Sir Henry, addressing those in front as 'Comrades,' made a short speech in which he referred to the Queen, and the loyalty of the Colonies, in sending representatives such long distances to take part in the Diamond Jubilee. At the close of his remarks another round of cheering awaited him, at which he seemed deeply moved and repeatedly waved his hand in acknowledgment. Cheers again and again the audience gradually moved away, carrying with them the memory of that performance, and the great actor to the uttermost corners of the earth.

COME SEE HOW THEY SPARKLE!!

Come see, the greatest, grandest, and most colossal display of semi-precious stones ever made.

LUCIOS' SCIENTIFIC DIAMONDS

A NEW SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY

Are acknowledged by experts to be the only REAL imitation diamond ever discovered.

They are warranted to retain their brilliancy for ever. Can be washed and cleaned like real diamonds.
Do not depend on artificial backing for their brilliancy.

HAVE ALL THE LIFE, FIRE, AND SCINTILLATING LIGHT AND ARE CUT LIKE REAL STONES.

Our guarantee:

We warrant each and every stone to retain its brilliancy for ever, and the mountings to give perfect satisfaction. We will give to any Charitable Institution if it can be shown that we have ever refused to replace a stone that did not give entire satisfaction.

$10,000

In order to introduce these marvellous stones quickly, we will sell a limited number of beautiful, brilliant

LUCIOS' DIAMONDS

Set in the newest real jewellery designs of Rings, Brooches, Earrings, Scarfpins, Bracelets, etc., etc., at a low introductory price of

EACH.

Do not confound

Lucios' Scientific Diamonds with so-called Rhine stones, Brazilian, Alaska, Victoria, Montana, Taits Kora, or in fact with any other imitation diamond, regardless of what the name may be. Lucios' Scientific diamonds are the only stones that cannot be detected from genuine diamonds and which are Warranted to retain their brilliancy.

In order to introduce these marvellous stones quickly, we will sell a limited number of beautiful, brilliant
